The Model Rules related to GIS start at 672.060 (12). Just to be sure you don't get confused, the older version of the statute, before the adoption of the revised Model Law and Rules, is posted at the Task Force site.

Oregon Task Force: It took Oregon 3.5 years to get this done, mostly because no one else had done it, and because their Legislature meets biennially, rather than annually.

Strategic plan supports multi-organization task force recommendations for new NCEES model law and rules.

"Recently, the State Legislature in your neighboring state of Oregon included licensing of photogrammetrists in its definition of surveying, and that legislation included such a savings clause provision. In addition, all geospatial stakeholders in Oregon came together to insure that the resulting legislation did not inadvertently harm the increasingly important applications of these technologies."
